Investment Manager Market Review

Quarter 1, 2018

Over the quarter, credit spreads widened and equities declined as optimism over synchronised global growth, strong company earnings and optimism about US tax cuts was overshadowed by jitters about geopolitics, protectionism and the approaching end of 'easy money'. Core yields rose amid fears that key central banks – having made further moves towards policy normalisation – could accelerate their moves in this direction. Most equity regions were down in local terms, but emerging markets recorded modest gains, aided by a weaker dollar. The Fund's relative outperformance versus its benchmark over the quarter was driven by stock selection, with a number of the regional equity funds outperforming. The largest relative contributors to the portfolio were Europe ex UK equities and UK equities. However, the Fund was still down over the period.

Within equities, the exposure to UK equities fell, although we were net buyers. Despite our being net buyers of emerging market equities over the quarter, the fund's relative allocation decreased. Within US equities we were net buyers. In fixed income, we slightly reduced our exposure to high-yield debt. Overall, we still feel that the broad global macroeconomic environment can be characterised as 'Goldilocks like', with decent growth and only gentle rises in inflation in most regions.
